I've hunted high and low to try to find where the Mac stores the templates so that, maybe, I can do amendments and deletions there - but I still don't even know where Mac stores these files.. I posted a similar question over a week ago on the normally very responsive and helpful MS Office forums, but not had a response (probably because they're all Windows users).. How to Install a Template Article contributed by John McGhie NOTE: This article is due for revision.. With Word open, I can load the template, then make the changes Winzip for mac filehippo..
